This community is called upon to mourn the death of a good man, GEORGE R. HENDREE, M. D., who died suddenly at his residence in Clarke county, on the [illegible] ult., at the age of 37 years. The deceased was a native of Virginia, where he resided in his earlier years. He afterwards removed to Georgia, and subsequently to Alabama. He represented Chambers county in the Legislature one session, and was elected one of the Trustees of the University of Alabama. For nearly four years he has been a resident of Clarke county, where his excellent qualities, as a man and as a physician, have endeared him to a large circle of friends. He was a man of generous disposition, ardent in his feelings, of excellent social qualities, and attached to his friends by more than the ties of a passing friendship. The voice of the neighborhood proclaims that a good man, and a worthy and valued citizen, is gone. A widow and several small children survive to deplore the loss of a husband and father. To them the earnest sympathy of the community is extended. The blow, sudden and unexpected, has fallen with stunning effect. Time will bring healing on its wings, and they will know where to look for higher consolation from a higher source.
