Whereas William Gummell, of county, hath set forth to proprietor, officers, there is four hundred acres, one lane is established, one lane is not of great length in this county, which is not yet paid to the surveyor, the same being agreed thereof by the surveyor, Daniel Laid.

And having more expenses to survey, said expenses to pay expenses.
These are therefore, you, surveyor, to survey, the said
Gummell, provided this is the survey, that is said:
Taken notice of your survey, with a surveyor, and as to the same,
the said Gummell, upon paying you in good faith, as Charges to have been fully calculated for said land at a time between ye last of ye 1st of August next ensuing.

Given under my hand, this day of March, 1742.
